LOS ANGELES IS SHAKEN BY QUAKE

PEOPLE RUSH TO STREETS AS TALL BUILDINGS SHAKE AND QUIVER FROM SHOCK.

By the Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 22.—An earthquake shook the city at 6:47 p. m. last evening.

Several buildings were reported to have been slightly damaged.

Bricks falling from a building at Sixth street and Grand avenue injured a man passing by.

Office buildings were shaken so severely that many of their occupants fled from them.

The shock was felt in Long Beach, San Pedro, Santa Monica and Redondo Beach, according to reports to the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, Whittier, Covina and other inland points reporting they had noticed the quake.

A slight earth tremor was felt here Friday morning.

Officials of the fire and public works departments half an hour after the shock, said no serious damage had been reported.

Several cracks were made in the walls of the city jail.

Electric lights and gas connections of the town of Inglewood, ten miles southwest of Los Angeles, were cut off by the earthquake.

The walls of an electric light and power station at Inglewood were shaken down. A motion picture theater, a bank and a furniture store were damaged.

The principal damage in Los Angeles and other surrounding towns, reports said, was caused by the shaking down and breaking of ornaments in homes.

The portion of Los Angeles receiving the most severe shaking was the southwest residential section. In the business district of Los Angeles the damage consisted largely of broken glass windows.

The Edison building, an eleven story structure and the Laughlin building, formerly separated by a few inches, were jammed together by the shock.

LOS ANGELES, June 22.—Another slight earthquake was felt in the Inglewood district, near Los Angeles, at five o'clock this morning. There was no additional damage.

Inglewood residents worked all night clearing up debris. While the town lights were off, automobile headlights were used by the workers. Many families stayed in the open air rather than occupy their shaken dwellings.

LOS ANGELES, June 22.—A survey early today of the damage done by an earthquake, which occurred early last night, indicated that Inglewood, ten miles southwest of here, suffered much more severely than was first reported. Twenty-one business houses, in the town, were practically destroyed. The town was deprived of light and gas, and many homes were practically destroyed.

NEW CRUSADE AGAINST REDS NOW PLANNED

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Armed with broadened powers provided in the recently enacted alien exclusion act, department of justice officials today announced a new drive against radicalism.

The "Theoretical red" and the "Parlor Bolshevik" are to be special objects of the campaign, it was said. Provisions of the new act have greatly widened the scope of the department's powers to rid the country of aliens who stir up discontent with guarded revolutionary doctrines.

The flow of the Colorado river this season will be 30 percent above normal, due to heavy snow in the mountains.

C. N. HASKELL TO WRITE BOOK

FIRST GOVERNOR OF OKLAHOMA COMPILING FOR PUBLICATION EARLY THIS FALL

C. N. Haskell, first governor of Oklahoma, is compiling his memoirs for publication some time next fall, according to word received here by the Ada News and some of his friends.

Several men prominently identified with Haskell and the early statehood period have been asked to supply data.

Haskell, it is said, proposes to give his experiences during the early days and his views on events to subsequent history.

Whether this may indicate intention by Haskell to take a hand once more in Oklahoma politics is a matter for speculation.

Haskell now lives in New York. He made his home there a few months after his defeat in the famous senatorial contest with R. L. Owen. He is said to have made many millions in oil.

Probably no more spectacular political story could be written than that of Haskell. A power in the Sanyouyah convention, his capacity for leadership there gave him dominance in the constitutional convention a few years later.

High spots in his stormy career were the moving of the capitol from Guthrie; a legislative investigation and an indictment by a federal grand jury in McAlester, from both of which he came out victorious; his famous fight with Hearst and his later affray with Roosevelt culminating in Haskell's withdrawal as treasurer of the Democratic national committee; and, finally, his fervid campaign against Owen and his retirement from political life.

Besides his career in oil it is said that at the outset of the war he rode United States Steel to the top and cleaned up a million or so in Wall Street. He has been living at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York and has seldom visited Oklahoma since the expiration of his term as governor.

His friends claim that no matter how many men follow him into the state capitol he will go down in history as the greatest governor the state ever had.

John Roddie Lindstrom. John Roddie Lindstrom died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lindstrom in Udall, Kans., Monday and the body arrived in this city today for burial.

He was five years of age at the time of his death and was very intelligent for a boy of this age. The funeral services will be conducted by Rev. C. R. Taylor of the Methodist church and the interment will take place at Rosedale cemetery.

Mrs. Lindstrom is a daughter of Mrs. W. L. Roddie of 830 West 1st street.

GOV. EDWARDS THE PEOPLE'S FRIEND

CHAMPION OF STATES RIGHTS
—FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE AND STRONG PRESIDENTIAL POSSIBILITY

Governor Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey, who came into national prominence by leading New Jersey's fight for State rights as against Constitutional prohibition, was born in Jersey City, on December 1, 1863.

Since 1903 he has been president of the First National Bank of Jersey City and in 1912, upon the election of Woodrow Wilson as governor and the control of the New Jersey legislature by the democratic party he was elected State Controller of the Treasury. In the six years he served as Controller he established what was called the "pay-as-you-go" policy for New Jersey, a systematic plan of drawing upon state appropriations by various boards, departments and state institutions.

Mr. Edwards retired as State Controller in 1917 but on November 5, 1918, he returned to public life as State Senator. In a contest for the democratic nomination for governor, Senator Edwards defeated James R. Nugent, of Newark, one of the State democratic leaders and was elected in November, 1919, over Newton A. K. Bugbee, republican candidate, by a plurality approximately 15,000.

He was elected on an issue of "personal liberty" and, shortly after, the legislature passed a bill permitting the manufacture and sale of beer with an alcoholic content of 3.75 per cent. New Jersey as a result of the predominance of "wet" sentiment not only failed to ratify the 18th amendment, together with Rhode Island and Connecticut but rejected it. In the legislature battle over prohibition last winter, friends of Governor Edwards declared that while he holds liberal personal views concerning the use of intoxicants, he has not personally used them in more than thirty years.

Governor Edwards was educated in the Jersey City public schools and afterwards attended New York University. After leaving college he studied law for a while with his brother, the late Senator William D. Edwards, but abandoned it to enter the First National Bank where for seven years he studied finance and taxation. Over work compelled him to seek outdoor employment and for several years he was in the general contracting business. Later he served as an official of a State Tax Commission and relinquished this position in 1903 at the request of the late Edward F. E. Young, then president of First National Bank of Jersey City, afterward becoming cashier, director and finally its head.

Early in life Mr. Edwards took an active interest in the State militia, being a member of Company F, 4th Regiment of Jersey City. He passed through the various ranks and became Captain, in which capacity he served for several years. His son, Captain Edward I. Edwards, Jr., served overseas for almost two years, returning to this country at the close of the war.

Governor Edwards married on November 14, 1888, Miss Julie Blanche Smith, daughter of Captain and Mrs. William Smith of Jersey City. Besides their son they have a daughter, Miss Elizabeth Edwards, who is an expert horse-woman and motorist. The Governor is a vestryman of St. Paul's Episcopal Church of Jersey City, a Mason, a member of the American Banking Association, the New Jersey State Bankers' Association and many social and civic organizations.

JAKE HAMON HOPEFUL OF G. O. P. VICTORY

WASHINGTON, June 21.—"You will carry Oklahoma next November beyond the question of a doubt."

Jake L. Hamon, republican national committeeman from Oklahoma, told Senator Harding this last night. With four of the members of the executive committee appointed by the republican national committee following Harding's nomination, Hamon dined with the republican nominee.

At the committee conference today Hamon was to participate in formulating and recommending a campaign policy.

Prior to Harding's nomination at Chicago the Oklahoma republican leader was an avowed supporter of Governor Lowden of Illinois and he threw his strength to Lowden until the tide turned to Harding.

Then Hamon assisted in putting over Harding. He is an old friend of the candidate and will be prominently identified with the G. O. P. campaign.

GOVERNOR EDWARD I. EDWARDS OF NEW JERSEY

SAYS WIFE KILLER MUST DIE SOON

SECOND WHITE MAN TO BE ELECTROCUTED AT McALESTER THE NINTH OF NEXT MONTH.

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 22.—Monroe Britterton, about 45, will die in the electric chair at McAlester, July 9, anniversary of the day he killed his wife at their home in Vinita.

The last remnant of hope for more than 18 days of life ended Monday, when Governor Robertson denied Britterton's appeal for clemency, and directed Warden Switzer at McAlester to notify the doomed man.

The governor's decision was made after an interview with Britterton in the death cell at the penitentiary two weeks ago. Britterton is a man without any idea of right and wrong, according to the report to Governor Robertson by a sanity commission, headed by Dr. A. R. Lewis. He is called an "upper moron" in the report.

Britterton, 12 years ago, killed the woman with whom he was living in Missouri and was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment in the Missouri penitentiary. He was paroled after 10 years and moved to Oklahoma, where he was married. His own children and his wife's children intermarried.

The wife divorced Britterton in May, 1919, but they were remarried July 1, 1919. On July 9, he killed her.

Britterton will have been the second white man to die in the chair. T. R. Broughton was electrocuted last May 21 for the murder of Ote Robbins, sheriff of Creek county.

Recognition For Mexico
WASHINGTON, June 22.—Fernandina Calderon has been appointed high commissioner of Mexico, with the rank of Ambassador, the state department was advised today, and was to leave for the United States today. It is understood that he will endeavor to obtain recognition for the new Mexican government by the United States.

Poles Resist Enemy.
By the Associated Press

WARSAW, June 22.—The Poles have repulsed strong enemy attacks in the region of Smilga Szaolina, inflicting considerable losses upon the Bolsheviks, according to an official statement issued today. The troops of General Romer, in the Ukraine have been successful in fighting with the Bolshevik cavalry of General Udeny, the statement says, and Ukrainian troops north of the Neister successfully raided Dabczynce, taking two cannons and several parts of artillery.

ALLIES ATTEMPT TO DECIDE ON GERMANY'S CASE

By the Associated Press

BOULOGNE, June 22.—The supreme council of the allies, after holding a three hour session today, adjourned to meet at Brussels July 2, leaving most of the questions on its program undecided.

The problem of the German reparations was referred to experts, who will meet in Paris and endeavor to conciliate the conflicting viewpoints among the allies regarding the division of the sum Germany is to pay.

The experts likewise are still confronted with the tasks of reaching a decision of the total amount of reparations and method of payment. The Turkish question is considered to have been settled.

The Russian question came up this morning, but was left undecided. It was agreed, pending further consideration, that the economic negotiations between the French and British delegates and the Soviet representatives should continue without implying in any sense recognition of the Soviet government.

DEM. LEADERS MILL AT FRISCO

THE PROHIBITION QUESTION TO OVERSHADOW ALL OTHERS
AS CONVENTION DAY APPROACHES.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—While hotel lobbies began today to take on the appearance of a national political convention, only a few of the democratic chieftains, who will figure prominently in the party's quadrennial gathering next week, had reached the convention city. Direct developments of the day were confined to physical preparation of the municipal auditorium for the strikingly little talk about candidates.

No definite statements were obtainable from leaders, who have reached the scene of the battle, but it was clearly indicated that they look forward for a fight on the floor of the convention over the effort to make the democratic platform advocate modification of the prohibition enforcement law, thro' a "bee plank."

The League of Nations issue did not fill a prominent place in talk among leaders today, but possibility of a struggle over Japanese exclusion was suggested after Governor Stephen's letter to Secretary Colby, declaring the situation in California, had been read.

There was no marked activities among supporters of men seeking the presidential nomination. Posters urging the claims of Attorney General Palmer began to appear after plans for his "boom" had been established, and workers in behalf of Ohio, and other aspirants were beginning to arrive. The are not expected to get their campaigns into active motion until later in the week.

KIT GUEST TAKES SHOT AT ENEMIES

CALLS THEM BIBLICAL NAMES
BUT NOT THE KIND THAT THE AVERAGE MAN
LIKES TO HEAR.

This is to correct some false reports that are being made on the streets in regard to some whiskey I captured last Friday night.

About ten days ago I was talking with a man on the street and he asked me how I was getting on. I told him it was very dull in my business. He said I ought to do like Walter Goynes, get out and capture some whiskey and stills. I told him I had no way of getting out without hiring a car, and I was not able to do that. He said he could tell me where I could capture whiskey almost any night, if I would watch. So I tried my luck and made a waterhaul the first night.

Last Friday night I saw him again and he asked me if I had any luck, and I told him that I had been out once, but had no luck, so he insisted on me trying again, and said if I would go where he said, I would be sure to find some.

That night I hired a man to go with me, and we went to the place where he had told me I would be sure to find whiskey, but found nothing, so we went quite a distance beyond there and had given up finding anything and had started back home. Having come some distance, I don't know how far, we were driving very slow when the driver told me he heard someone singing, which seemed to be only a short distance in front of us, then almost instantly a man appeared, only about 40 or 50 feet away. I could not tell at first whether he was carrying anything or not, as it was very dark, but I soon saw he was, so I told the driver to stop. I got out on the running board and told the man to "hold up." I then stepped on the ground and told him the second time to hold up, at the same time reaching after my gun. He then dropped his package and ran, and was out of sight in about four jumps.

We then got the package he had dropped and started back to town when Walter Goynes, Claude Chandler and a man who claimed to be a United States officer, overtook us. We stopped; they drove up beside us and stopped. Walter got out, walked over and asked the driver who was with him, and he replied, "Kit." He laughed and said something to the other men, and they all got out and came over to our car.

The United States man asked me what I had in the car and I told him "whiskey." He said he would be obliged to take it. I told him I had captured it and thought I had a right to keep it. He said he had a right to take it away from any officer, so not knowing how much authority he had, I let him have it. He then put it in their car and left me there, without even saying, "Let us go to town," or for me to go to the devil, or where for me to go, so I came on back to town. The next morning I came to town and at 9 o'clock sharp went up into the synagogue and behold, the Sadducees and the Pharisees were there and I took a seat, as a sheep does before his shearer, so I opened not my mouth.

As it happened we have a county attorney who has no pots and who deals out justice to all mankind. The accusers disappeared one at a time. It seemed they were troubled at heart. So they had another caucus and asked in cloven tongues. And, in their great hour of trouble, they asked each other what to do, and the leader said they might be helped in prayer, so he prayed—stood up, lifted his eyes and thanked God that he was not as other men, and it seemed as if the scales fell from his eyes and he had a new vision. He cried aloud, "Comrade, the way seems plain—tomorrow is Saturday and there will be a large crowd in town—we will give everybody a confidential talk and misrepresent the facts in the case, so it will spread all over the country and it will be impossible for him to straighten it up before the third of August." And they went their way "Moicing."

I have made a true and correct statement in this case.

Signed: KIT GUEST.

Movement Underway to Place 1,000,000 Sheep on Oklahoma Farms by 1922

Climaxing ten years of sporadic attempts to interest Oklahoma farmers and stockmen in sheep culture, there is under way now a concerted and well organized movement to place 1,000,000 sheep on Oklahoma farms by 1922 under the guidance of the Oklahoma national stockyards company and in charge of Dr. C. L. Nelson, who for fourteen years was with the United States department of agriculture, the last two years in the extension division of Oklahoma A. and M. college, the "Grow More Sheep" idea is going to be pushed in every county and township in the state.

The latest endeavor to establish sheep production in Oklahoma involves every angle of agricultural effort thus far created. Dr. Nelson is mapping out a plan that brings behind the sheep movement every county agent in Oklahoma, the various departments of the agricultural college and United States department of agriculture, along with the assistance of the co-operative livestock development association at the stockyards which has been rehabilitating the swine industry in the state.

Outlining his plans, Dr. Nelson said yesterday: "Only through the most earnest kind of co-operation from all state organizations of stockmen and the assistance of the department at Washington can we accomplish our purpose. We propose through educational publicity organization work in county, township and village, through lectures and demonstrations to organize clubs along the community lines. We desire to sell to assist beginners to obtain the kind of sheep desired and to give instructions as to the proper care, feeding and growing of mutton and wool.

If farmers in Oklahoma will make proper use of their waste land by restocking with good grade or pure bred sheep it will not take long to place the industry on sound footing. We are confident that between now and 1922 we can and will place 1,000,000 sheep on Oklahoma farms."

Oklahoma City's livestock market as far as sheep has never been given a fair chance, stockyard men say. In order to build a lastingly good sheep market something like a stable supply is necessary. For years sheep receipts have been of the rush today and famine tomorrow order. Slaughtering sheep is the most highly specialized line of packer operation. It requires skilled butchers in that line of work, buyers who know the business, and a market that must be developed with the idea of permanently disposing of the output from this market. These things are possibly only when packers are convinced that they can depend upon a steady supply and it is to accomplish this that all hands are uniting now to put the state in the lead in sheep husbandry.

MEN'S BELTS RUIN HEALTH, IS CLAIM

CINCINNATI, Ohio, June 22.—That the universal American habit of suspending the trousers by means of a belt is doing much damage, was asserted by Dr. Charles A. L. Reed, of Cincinnati, former president of the American Medical Association, at the university commencement here today.

"The number of men, and young men, too, who are either semi-invalids or real invalids as a result of disturbances of the stomach and intestines is already alarming; and every physician knows that such cases are rapidly increasing," asserted Dr. Reed. "Not many years ago," he continued, "the same fact applied to women and was justly attributed to the construction of the waist by the corset as then worn. But the attire of women in all particulars, especially in this particular, is now much more hygienic than that of men. The unconstricted waist today imparts to women not only a grace and suppleness but a degree of health that may well be the envy of the so called sterner sex. The trouble is with the tightly worn belt. The natural result of squeezing the abdomen at waist line is to force the stomach, intestines, liver and other organs downward out of place. When this is done indigestion, constipation and biliousness result. In their train come headache, nervousness, mental depression and general inefficiency. In over one thousand consecutive cases of epilepsy careful x-ray examinations have shown the existence of such displacements. It is not asserted that all belt

Millions for a New Stomach

One of the greatest American millionaires said to his physician, "A million dollars, Doctor, spot cash and no grumbling, for a new stomach," and then the sick man groaned and turned away. All his wealth could not make him happy or contented, for happiness largely depends upon digestion. Without health where does happiness come in? After all the stomach plays a great part in everyday life. Without a healthy stomach and good digestion our blood is thin, watery and poor, our heart action is weak, our liver does not do its duty, and man is miserable and unhappy. Prevent disease by putting the house in order and strengthening the system against the germs of disease.

Dr. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., years ago understood diseases and their prevention, and he discovered certain roots and herbs which were nature's remedies, and succeeded in putting them up in a form that could be easily procured at the drug store (liquid or tablets). This he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This Discovery gives no false stimulation because it contains no alcohol or any narcotic. It helps digestion and the assimilation of such elements in the food as are required for the blood. It gives to the blood the food elements the tissues require. For over fifty years it has enjoyed the confidence of the American public. Try it now!

THINK ABOUT IT

Very often people are fortunate enough to buy second-hand articles at a fraction of their real value which serve a better purpose and are really more suitable for the special use desired than brand new and expensive articles would be.

Indeed, there are many almost priceless antiques that have been sold "for a song" when their owners were suddenly confronted with the need of ready cash. Many people, too, possess things which they would like to exchange for others.

In the News want columns appear many opportunities to obtain splendid bargains in just those second-hand articles which you have long desired. Many exchanges of household wares are also effected daily through the News want ads to the great benefit of both parties concerned. Call No. 4 and ask for the want ad taker.

HOW RED RIVER RULING AFFECTS OIL OPERATORS

Claimants in possession of land April 1, 1920, south of the south line of vegetation in the river bed, will be given back their property, to operate under the direction of the federal receiver, as soon as possible after June 21. Property in the sandy bed of the river, north of the line of vegetation, to the center of the thread of the stream, still remains under the complete control of the receiver and will be operated by him.

Property between the thread of the stream and the boundary survey of 1875, north of the stream, is under the jurisdiction of W. A. Brooks, receiver appointed by the U. S. district court. Plans for its development have not been completed.

THE furious storm aroused by the combat between Thomas Jefferson and Alexander Hamilton, the greatest gladiators to face each other in the arena of American politics, makes our recent campaigns seem like sunshowers. Hamiltonians scorned to eat and drink, and sometimes even to pray, with the Jeffersonians. To give a daughter in marriage with one of them was almost abhorred as miscegenation.

Nothing else so stirs the angry passions as a conflict of classes or of sections. This was both doubly bitter. An almost solid South united with the Northern masses in a common dread of a strong government and in a common hostility to the old ruling caste in the middle states and New England. The new parties called themselves Federalists and Republicans.

In the first battle, when those parties fought for the chair of Washington in 1796, the result was so close that Jefferson came within two elec-

At the time of his birth beneath one of its foothills the Blue Ridge of Virginia was the American frontier. The farm on which he was born had been cleared in the wild forest by his pioneer father when the smoke of a neighbor's chimney hardly could be seen from his cabin door.

When he rode east, with his darling fiddle under his arm, to be a student at William and Mary college, the tall, slender, sandy-haired, snub-nosed, freckle-faced seventeen-year-old boy of the frontiersman never had seen a mansion, a church or a village of twenty houses, and he looked with a stranger's eyes upon the baronial

SWIMS CREEK
IN HAILSTORM
TO SAVE TRAIN

By the Associated Press

OMAHA, Neb., June 22.—In the recent South Dakota floods John Williams, a section foreman, swam a swollen creek at night in a hailstorm to warn a passenger train that a bridge had gone out. He stripped himself and tied the danger signals to his back. After he had set them, he approached a nearby house, then remembered his negligence and swam back across the 600 feet of swirling current.

The passenger train, it developed later, was stopped farther up the road at a point where the railroad men had little hope of halting it. Williams' heroism, however, was not overlooked by the railroad officials.

The bridge was the Burlington's over Hat Creek near Ardmore, S. D. The Hat Creek flood tied up traffic for eight days, cost seven lives, and did $500,000 damage to the one road.

Several days after the flood the section foreman was looked up by a newspaper man from the city. He found him directing a gang of laborers repairing the washout.

Williams related how it has been raining through the previous weeks and the April blizzard had left the ground soaked, so that when the last storm came on it ran off as if from a duck's back and "old Hat Creek started on a rampage."

"I kept watching the new bridge over the creek all afternoon," Williams told his visitor, "and water kept comin' up and comin' up until it reached the ties. Then I got worried for fear the bridge would go out so I went back to town and reported about it to the operator."

He told the dispatcher at Alliance about it. The telephone and telegraph wires runnin' west had all gone down and we couldn't get Edgmont or anyone west of the creek. Jack Welch, the dispatcher at Alliance, talked to me over the railroad phone and asked me if I could get to the west end of the bridge across the creek, and put out a red light and some stop signals so as to hold the night passenger train, No. 42, which was due at 9 o'clock. I told him I'd try and went back to the bridge.

"When I got there again the water was clear over the top of the bridge and it looked to me like one of the steel spans had gone out. We'd tried to phone the government farm on the other side to ask them to go out and put out a red light but their phone was gone and we couldn't reach anybody."

"Well, I just figured the chances was probably against me gittin' across but it was only my life against 150 passengers on No. 42, and I figured that the train would be runnin' pretty fast when it came up to the bridge, and they might be into it before they saw it, so I walked up the creek a half mile, stripped off my clothes, tied my red lantern, red flag and torpedoes to my back, and swam across."

"There wasn't so many trees out there and she was only about 600 feet wide, but the water was full of hailstones and cold as hell. It was rainin' to beat the band and dark as blazes. I sure felt good when I hit that fence on the other side and drug myself on the bank."

"How did you get back to Ardmore?" Williams was asked, after he had related how he placed the signals.

"Well, I walked up to the government house but when I got close to the office and saw the bright lights there I remembered I didn't have no clothes on and I thought I'd make a pretty lookin' sight bustin' in on 'em like that, so I walked back up the stream and swam back."

"When our wagon's late. It's bad to need ice and can't get it. We realize this and are doing everything in our power to get our wagon to you promptly and about the same time at each delivery."

WILL YOU HELP US? Have your coupon or money ready when our wagon is at your door. Don't make the driver come back for it. Remember, if you delay him one, two or three minutes, he reaches your friend down the street just that much later, and she becomes annoyed.

Another thing, please don't pay the driver in advance for your ice. Sometime a driver may be discharged for not serving our patrons properly or he may be changed to another route, and this makes it important that you pay only for the amount of ice you get and at the time the purchase is made, and oblige, CAMDEN, New Jersey, June 21.

The new railroad strike spread to New Jersey today when freight crews on the west Jersey and Sea shore and Atlantic City railroad walked out tying up freight movements.

Strikers declared that "no settlement of recent demands made to railroad labor board was the cause of the walkout," adding that they received definite promises that a settlement would be effected by today.

toral votes of winning the presidency against Adams. In the second battle, which was waged in 1800, he beat Adams.

Contrary to the familiar story of his hitching his horse to the capitol fence, Jefferson walked to his inauguration and afterward walked back to his boarding house, which was only a few hundred yards away. This man afoot, dreamer and theorist, quietly ushered in that day a more lasting revolution than a man on horseback could have wrought with a sword and whiff of grapeshot.

Believing that revolutions should begin at home Jefferson revolutionized the White House by casting aside the ceremonials which had been adopted in a feeble imitation of kingly courts. Opening the doors to all, without regard to social classifications and without order of precedence, his rule was "first come, first served." Determined that the president, as he said, should cease to be a personage, he stopped the custom of celebrating a president's birthday, never made a public tour, did his own marketing and went and came like any other citizen. Although no successor has thrown a British minister into a fit of indignation by receiving him in slippers, Jeffersonian simplicity rather more than Washingtonian courtliness remains the standard of presidential conduct.

It was the strange fortune of this most thoroughgoing pacifist to find himself at the helm in the midst of a world at war. When the globe was bristling with bayonets until it looked like a porcupine, he calmly announced that peace was his passion, and started out by cutting down his little army one-half and by talking of hauling up his seven warships. His only interest in the Napoleonic struggle was to keep out of it.

Nevertheless while the military powers were fighting over little islands and provinces and drenching Europe with their blood, this most unmilitary president, without firing a shot, gathered in far richer spoils than the victors in twenty-five years of warfare divided among themselves at the congress of Vienna. As Jefferson's election was a bloodless revolution, his purchase of the immense empire of Louisiana, which doubled the territory of the United States, was a bloodless conquest, the greatest peaceable annexation the world ever saw. Having made it, the flag was no more than hoisted on the farther bank of the Mississippi than he dispatched Lewis and Clark and Captain Pike boldly to spy out the unexplored rivers and mountains of the new soil, so honestly won, and from which so many free states were to spring.

Jefferson is the only president who remained the leader of his party after leaving the White House. Indeed, the Democrats never have ceased to swear allegiance to his spirit.

pride and display of the old families who formed the viceregal court at Williamsburg.

To support the large family of his mother on their too small farm Jefferson turned to the law. In seven years at the bar he doubled his estate and increased his slaves to 400. Buying the little mountain at whose feet he was born, he built upon its summit from plans of his own drawing, with bricks of his own making and with wood of his own cutting, the noblest house in all Virginia. There at Monticello he made his home ever after.

Jefferson's law practice continued rapidly to grow until it amounted to $2,500 a year, when he abandoned it forever to prosecute George III in the great and general court of mankind. He had heard the first call of the Revolution while a law student in Williamsburg. Its clarion had been ringing in his ears ever since he stood, an eager looker-on, in the door of the house of burgesses. He saw Washington in his seat and he saw his own friend, Patrick Henry, a fiddling Virginian like himself, holding the floor amid cries of treason as he invited the king to profit by the example of Caesar, who had his Brutus, and Charles I. who had his Cromwell.

The sword, the tongue and the pen of American freedom were well met that memorable day. After the pen had waited twelve years for its turn to speak Jefferson sat in the congress at Philadelphia. The squire of Monticello was a silent member, as silent as the squire of Mount Vernon. Opportunity and duty went straight to those two speechless congressmen as the needle leaps to a loadstone.

After serving as governor of Virginia and member of congress Jefferson was sent as minister to the court of France. "You replace Doctor Franklin," the Count Vergennes said to him on his arrival in Paris. "I succeed him," the new envoy happily replied; "no one can replace Doctor Franklin."

Six weeks and a day after he had seen that old France of the Bourbons crash beneath the walls of the Bastille Jefferson left Paris to become our first secretary of state. Taking his seat at the right of Washington he was face to face across the cabinet table with Alexander Hamilton, the secretary of the treasury.

By nature and training the two were as opposite in their political opinions as in their chairs, and they found themselves, as Jefferson said, "pitted like fighting cocks." As they fought and the feathers flew a great crowd collected behind each to urge on its favorite in that cocking main over which Washington had the unpopularity to preside. Quickly all the people in the land took one side or the other and formed themselves into the two political parties which with changing names and changing disputes have divided the country to this day.

BACK TO THE REAL ISSUE

The resolution adopted by veterans of the Rainbow Division adopted at Tulsa last Saturday and attacking Senator Gore for his war delinquencies brings back to the people of Oklahoma the real issue of the senatorial campaign. It is the issue of loyalty vs. disloyalty, of genuine Americanism vs. the most pronounced slacking during the days of war.

It is well that such a challenge should be issued, for at this time the people of Oklahoma are being attracted to quibbles that have nothing to do with this campaign. The foolish wrangle over joint debates and the harping of critics concerning the amount of property said to have been acquired by Gore are nothing but the babble of children and might be introduced in any campaign. It has been the purpose of the Gore adherents to cloud the issue in order that the people might be induced to forget the war record of their leader. They have studiously attempted to lead the voter far afield and cause him to forget the days when every loyal citizen of Oklahoma was ashamed of the man supposed to be representing the state in the senate.

It does not matter just now whether Gore and Ferris stage a thousand debates or none. It does not matter whether Gore owns numerous houses in Washington or none. It does not matter now whether Gore saved the oil men millions of dollars in war taxes, even if the amount he claims to have saved, them was passed on to the farmers and laboring men of the state. It does not matter who is managing the campaign of Gore or of Ferris or who is making speeches in their behalf over the state. These are mere incidents and have absolutely nothing to do with the real issue.

The essential difference between Gore and Ferris is presented by the boys of the Rainbow Division. It remains for those who were denominated "sunshine patriots" in 1916 to raise the real issue of 1920. These boys who waded through successive waves of death under the flag of one of the greatest fighting units ever engaged in war have called attention to the issue that Gore must face on August 3. In words that have no dual meaning but are startling in their incisiveness the veterans call attention to the war record of the junior senator. He was un-American. He was disloyal. He was an obstructionist. He was a slacker. He joined with those who sought to make American victory impossible. He opposed measures vital to the successful prosecution of the war. These are the particulars in the soldiers' bill of indictment. They raise the issue of loyalty vs. disloyalty, of carrying-on vs. obstruction.

While this resolution will tend to unify the forces waging war on Gore, it is not necessary to unify his followers. Already they have recognized the issue and have answered his call. His war record is proven by his following. Aside from his personal friends whose loyalty to their country everyone concedes and no one denies, his following is supported by every disloyal element in Oklahoma. The German sympathizer who praised Germany and reviled our allies is supporting Gore. The financial slacker who sought to exempt his wealth from war service is supporting Gore. The secessionist who sought to obstruct the operations of the draft is supporting Gore. Every man who burned a railroad bridge or poisoned a schoolhouse well is supporting Gore. The fact that his loyalty was at least suspected during the war is abundantly attested by the presence in his camp of every disloyalist in Oklahoma. So far has the infection spread, so well is his affiliation during war time recognized, that his campaign in a great many counties has passed entirely into the hands of Socialists, whose position on the war is well understood by every citizen.

Let us not mistake the issue and let us not be misled. The real issue in this campaign and the only issue is loyalty. Gore has been indicted by the Rainbow Division for disloyalty. On no other issue will he be permitted to plead. That is the charge he must face before the electorate of Oklahoma.

There is one thing you have got to hand it to the Chicago convention for. It is the only agency known to man that ever put a silencer on Hiram Johnson.

It is said that the Ford advertising matter has been published in twelve different languages. We can well believe it. We saw a man trying to crank his Ford Sunday night and he was using all twelve of the languages at once.

Just because the Evening News said that Aldrich Blake and Dorsett Carter and Jean P. Day are working in Gore's headquarters, Harlow's Weekly says that we are the first paper in the state to inject personalities into the senatorial campaign. The little joke is that we got those names from a recent issue of Harlow's and never would have known those boys are working in Gore's headquarters if Harlows had not told us.

State Press Comment

Muskogee Phoenix: By what odd twist of idealism was the world made safe for profiteers?

Muskogee Phoenix: There isn't much left of the Bunker Hill spirit except the bunk.

Frederick Leader: The trouble about the irreconcilables in the Chicago convention is that they could not tell whether the platform was for them or against them.

Frederick Leader: As Governor Edwards, the New Jersey apostle of anti-prohibition, travels to San Francisco, he will find that there is lots of country outdoors west of Jersey.

Okemah Ledger: The fact that the republican platform makers were compelled to boast of the achievements of a congress famous for its failure to do anything, shows the poverty of the party in real campaign issues.

Okemah Ledger: Stripped of unnecessary verbiage the republican platform at Chicago might be condensed to: "We don't know what we have to offer the people, but we're offering it anyway. D—n Wilson."

Konawa Chief-Leader: Young man, don't fold your hands in idleness because you can't get a town job. The cotton and corn fields are calling loudly for the hoe, and the festive crab grass grows anon. Most of our presidents were knee deep in the field when they were your age, and you shouldn't despise the path trod by Jackson, Polk and Lincoln.

McAlester News-Capital: We humbly beg Mr. Jack Dempsey's pardon for calling him a slacker. He was not a slacker, so a jury has held, but the victim of a conspiracy. However, we don't beg his pardon for calling attention to his underworld activities and probably never will unless he looms up in our office some day with his 200 odd pounds. In that case we don't know what we might do.

BLAINE GILBREATH IS FULL FLEDGED LAWYER

J. B. Gilbreath was admitted to the bar at examinations conducted at Oklahoma City last Tuesday and Wednesday. That the examinations "weeded out" quite a number of the candidates is evidenced by the fact that only about 36 out of 76 passed.

Mr. Gilbreath has been court reporter here for the past ten years, working with Tom D. McKeown and J. W. Bolen. He has lived in Ada for the past twelve years and intends to stay in Ada in the new work he has undertaken. He has many friends who wish him success in the legal profession.

news of American Legion

American Legion to Celebrate. BEGGS, Okla., June 21. — The American Legion is preparing for a great celebration of Independence day to be held at Beggs on Monday, July 5. It promises to be one of the largest celebrations in the state.

P. L. Long, state war risk officer, has moved his office to the city hall, Tulsa, according to a bulletin issued by state headquarters last week. All service desired by members of the legion in reinstatement of insurance, application for compensation or vocational training will be readily granted.

Get 3,490 New Members.

A total of 3,490 members were added to the American legion of the state during the membership push week of May 17 to 22, it was announced by state headquarters yesterday. The figures included all paid memberships received at the office up to June 5. At that time the contest for the state banner ceased. At the beginning of the drive there were 9,667 members of the legion in the state. The number had been increased to 12,157 when the week closed.

The assistant state adjutant estimated yesterday that full figures of the department will now show a membership far in excess of 15,000. Many of the posts were slow in sending in membership reports.

State Has 195 Legion Posts.

Organization of legion posts in the state is rapidly approaching the mark set by the state officials as the goal toward which it would strive during the first six months of 1920. During the past week post No. 195 was chartered at Commerce. Other posts now in process of formation will without doubt bring the total in the state to the goal before the close of the present month.

Before the close of the present year the department hopes to boast of 300 posts. It is believed that that number will represent a majority of the places in which separate organizations may be maintained successfully.

The women's auxiliary of James F. Smith post of the American legion took the lead in point of membership in the state last week. It now has a total of ninety-five members certified to state headquarters. Organization of auxiliaries has been moving more rapidly during the past few months.

The local Red Cross will assist ex-soldiers and sailors in making out papers that will help in getting their federal aid. Insurance and other business can be handled thru the local office. Mrs. Orville Snead is the secretary.

Why not have an American legion ball team? We have the material and would like to give the regular team a little practice.

Tomorrow.
To meet tomorrow fearlessly,
This much I have resolved to do,
Tho what the year ahead may bring
Is still unknown to me, to you.
The sky is dark, the sages say,
Old standards fall before the new,
Gone are the things men died to save,
The many suffer for the few.
While youth gives answer, "This may be,
But have you lost the faith to see Tomorrow is no waning light,
No coward's hopeless prophecy,
Tomorrow is my book to write Your brightest dream, our glorious fight
And what we make it, it will be—
So face the future fearlessly."

June Time.
The June of other years has been merely a month of blue skies and roses and soft summer breezes which belonged by right to enthusiastic girl graduates, charming brides and pretty visiting girls.
There has been the usual riot of roses this year, the skies have been as blue and beautiful as of old; the brides have been as charming as the brides of other years; girl graduates have been as sweet and optimistic as in the years gone by and the visitors are as pretty as those of any June, but this June stands out as a very different June from any Milady has ever known and it is all because she has taken to, or been taken into national politics and must, perforce, divide her interests between her social and her political duties. Not that they are always separate, as was shown by the teas, luncheons and parties given to the women who attended the national republican convention held in Chicago, but the combination of the two makes for a somewhat strenuous and not always harmonious life.

With a daughter to be graduated and possibly another to be married, with the visitors who are always a part of these two events to be entertained and a national political convention or two to attend, the women folk of this broad land are keyed up to a high pitch of excitement this lovely month of June that will not subside until July dawns bright and fair—and hot—and commencements and weddings and parties and aspiring presidential nominees have become things of the dead, dead past.

Personal Mention

Mrs. M. J. Miller of Okmulgee is visiting in the city with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Patterson.

H. F. Rethman of Tulsa, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H.
W. Wells and the Misses Gragg, returned to his home last evening.

Roba Holt, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Holt, left today for Paris, Texas to visit her grandparents.

Mrs. Charley Sharrock and son and daughter returned to their home in Ardmore today after visiting with Mrs. George Sparks and family.

Margaret Lee and daughter, Miss Marjorie, have returned from a visit to relatives in Wichita Falls, Texas, and Chickasha, Okla.

Mrs. W. C. Dowell and daughter, Carrie Beth, of Lone Oak, Texas, are the guests of J. O. Abney and family. They will be here for about two weeks.

Mrs. Tommie Johnson of Mobetie, Texas, and Preston Jeffries of Lordsburg, New Mexico, who have been visiting friends and relatives in this city for the past week, left yesterday afternoon for their homes.

Miss Ludie Hawkins returned Monday from Mineral Wells and Sherman, Texas, where she has been visiting relatives for the past two weeks. She reports a very pleasant visit.

C. E. Reid and family of Delight, Arkansas, returned to their home today after visiting with Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Parson. They have had a most pleasant visit for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Tobias, who have been in California for some time looking for a location, will arrive in the city Friday, according to a telegram received here this morning. It is not known what they will do, but the supposition is that they will dispose of their property in this city and remove to that state.

J. A. Wilder Died.
J. A. Wilder died at his home two miles west of Fitzhugh Sunday afternoon at three o'clock.

Mr. Wilder was a farmer and had been harvesting his crop of oats. His death was sudden as he had worked almost to the time of his death. He became overheated or overworked it seems, while working with the oats. Death is attributed to heart trouble.

Deceased is survived by his wife and four daughters.
Funeral services are to be conducted this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Lightning Ridge where interment will take place.

The misery and depression caused by a bilious and constipated condition of the system can be quickly removed by using Herbine. It purifies, strengthens and invigorates.

Choc Dispenser Is Given Thirty and Fifty by the Court

James Ross was arraigned in county court yesterday afternoon on a charge of manufacturing and possessing a quantity of the famous Oklahoma beverage known as choc.
After hearing all the evidence in the case and applying to such evidence the law in such cases made and provided, the court decided that a fair and equitable settlement of the transgression required that defendant pay fifty dollars into the treasury and spend thirty days in the county jail.

W. B. House Bound Over to District Court By Justice

W. B. House was arraigned in justice court yesterday on a charge of shooting with intent to kill Alva Nettles the first of last week.
The shooting occurred in the Palm Garden and is said to have superinduced considerable interest among the host of spectators. The defendant waived preliminary examination and was bound over to the district court under $2,000 bond. A charge of carrying concealed weapons has also been filed against the defendant.

Year In State Is Not Required to Vote In Primary

Residence of as much as a year in the state on or before August 3 is not a necessary qualification for voting in the primary election, according to W. C. McAllister, secretary of the state election board.
If a person will be a fully qualified voter by November 2, the date of the general election, that person may vote in the primary, he said.
The ruling will permit all those to vote who came to the state between August 3 and November 2, 1919, who are otherwise eligible.

No Games This Week.
Manager Jim Coleman of the Ada ball club announces that there will be no game this week as advertised in yesterday's paper. Mr. Coleman states that he is unable to get a good club for mid-week games and will play clubs who are open for games on Sunday.

Sunday Ada will play Sulphur at the fair grounds diamond. This game will be called at 3 o'clock.
Monday the Ada club will play
Hugo on the fair grounds diamond.
Hugo is a salaried team and are touring the country and meeting all clubs. Good games are assured on both days.

tain natural resources in Pontotoc county.

Al Ball of Dallas is in Ada today transacting business. He formerly lived at Claremore and represented Rogers county in the fifth legislature, but now lives in Dallas where he has charge of a business that sells a contrivance to protect business men from bad checks. He probably learned the need of protection from bad checks while serving in the legislature.

Mrs. Virgil Hale sustained a very painful injury last Sunday at her

Robert was severely wounded in the head by a revolver bullet, but is expected to live. The driver was shot in both legs. No arrests have been made.

Organization of Ada's Alfalfa Mill Tomorrow Afternoon

A meeting of the stockholders of the new alfalfa mill will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The district court room has been selected for the assembly.

Plans for the temporary organization will be made and the election of officers to take care of the business will take place. The company is being promoted by C. W. Zorn and R. W. Allen, two well known business men of this city and these men are backed by good substantial men living in this county who are going to make this new institution a success. After the meeting tomorrow, Mr. Allen will leave for a trip to the eastern factories and select machinery for the mill and the work of the erection of buildings and storerooms will begin right away.

Pontotoc county has at present 5000 acres of alfalfa which is available to be worked up in feed in this mill and it is planned by the various stockholders to plant additional acreage next year so as to assure the mill success. The present acreage is sufficient to keep the mill working full time this season and additional equipment is to be added as the business grows.

Winters Land Case Begins Third Trip To Supreme Court

A. L. Bullock as special judge yesterday heard arguments in the case of W. H. Winters vs. the Oklahoma Portland Cement company.
This is a case involving title to 60 acres of land joining the Ada townsite and valued at about $12,000.
The case has been in the supreme court twice already and was started back for the third hearing yesterday when Judge Bullock decided in favor of the plaintiff and defendant gave notice of appeal. The plaintiff is represented by Wadlington & Wadlington, while J. F. McKeel is looking after the interests of the defendant company.

FARMER'S INCOME SUBJECT TO TAX

Gains for 1919 Must Be Figured
Under U. S. Law—Returns
Due March 15.

LAND SALE PROFITS TAXABLE.

Necessary Farm Expenses May Be Deducted—Special Form for Farm Income—Cash or Accrual Basis for Computing.

A farmer, shopkeeper, or tradesman must figure up his net income for 1919; and if the farm or business income plus his other income was sufficient to require an income tax return a complete return must be filed with the collector of internal revenue by March 15.

A farmer should ascertain the gross income of his farm by computing all gains derived from the sale or exchange of his products, whether produced on the farm or purchased and resold.

Farm Expenses.
From his gross income a farmer is allowed to charge off all of his necessary expenses in the conduct of the farm during the year. These include costs of planting, cultivating, harvesting and marketing. In addition to these costs he may deduct money spent for ordinary farm tools of short life bought during the year, such as shovels, rakes, etc. Also, the cost of feed purchased for his live stock may be treated as an expense in so far as this cost represents actual outlay, but the value of his own products fed to animals is not a deductible item.

Other farm expenses allowable are the cost of minor repairs on buildings (but not the dwelling house), on fences, wagons and farm machinery; also bills paid for horseshoeing, stock powders, rock salt, services of veterinary, insurance (except on dwelling house), gasoline for operating power and sundry other expenses which were paid for in cash.

As to hired help, all the productive labor is a deductible expense; but the wages of household servants, or help hired to improve the farm, as in tree planting, ditching, etc., cannot be claimed against earnings. A farmer is not allowed to claim a salary for himself or members of his family who work on the farm.

Wear and Tear.

Purchase of farm machinery, wagons, work animals, etc., also the cost of construction or extension of buildings, silos, fencing, etc., should be considered additional investments in the farm and are not proper deductions against income.

A reasonable allowance may be claimed for wear and tear on farm buildings (except the farmhouse), fences, machinery, work animals, wagons, tanks, windmills and other farm equipment which is used in the conduct of the farm.

As to autos and tractors, the cost of these is not an expense, although the cost of their upkeep is an allowable deduction, if the machines are used exclusively for farm purposes and not for pleasure. Also, in such cases, a deduction for wear and tear is allowed.

Farm Losses.

The loss of a growing crop is not a proper deduction from income, inasmuch as the value of the crop had not been taken into gross income. The loss of a building or of machinery through storm, lightning, flood, etc., is an allowable deduction, but care should be used to ascertain the correct loss sustained, as restricted by income tax regulations.

No deduction is allowed in the case of loss of animals raised on the farm, but a loss is deductible from gross income if the animals had been purchased for draft or breeding purposes.

Shrinkage in weight or value of farm products held for favorable market prices cannot be deducted as a loss, for the reason that when such products are sold the shrinkage will be reflected in the selling price.

Sale of Farms and Land.

The value of agricultural lands has been jumping during the past few years, and during 1919 many owners sold out part or all of their lands at big profits. All such gains constitute income and must be taken into the net income for the year.

Any person who sold part of a farm or ranch, or part of a parcel of land, must also show any gains realized by the sale.

The method of figuring gains and losses on such transactions is prescribed in the Income Tax regulations, copies of which may be secured from Internal Revenue Collectors.

Forms for Returns.

The Internal Revenue Bureau has issued an improved Form 1040F for the use of farmers. This form, together with Form 1040A or 1040, will give the farmer explicit information as to how to properly figure his net income for 1919.

There are two methods of figuring a farmer's income tax return this year. He may make his return on the basis of the difference between the money and goods received for his products and the cash paid out for actual allowable farm expenses within the year. Or he may make his return on the accrual basis, which means computing the receipts and expenses that pertain to the taxable year, excluding income earned and expenses incurred in previous or succeeding years.

Church News

At Christian Church Sunday

The day started out with a splendid Bible School. There was a fine spirit and every one seemed happy. There were thirty young men and women in the class taking the "9-week Practical Course in the Bible." Yesterday the class took up the history of the Jewish people from the conquest of Canaan to the division of the kingdom. Next Sunday they will cover the history from the birth of Jesus. We are looking for forty or fifty in the class next Sunday morning. We want to greet our superintendent with two hundred next Sunday morning, i. e. in the whole school.

Good audiences attended both morning and evening worship. This was especially true in the evening. The attendance at the Endeavor Society was unusually large and a fine program was rendered. One of the best features was that so many took part. Miss Constance Waggoner led the meeting. Mr. Dean gave a very interesting talk about Endeavor work in England and Scotland.

Yesterday the Sunday school chose its officers for the coming year. They are as follows: Superintendent, C. E. Cunningham; Assistant, E. E. Emerson; Secretary, O. E. Parker; Assistant, Oscar Parker; Pianist, Clarine Roach; Assistant pianist, Donna Belle Lee. The nominating committee also recommended that a teacher be selected for a tardy class, this class to convene near the entrance, and to include all who come in after the classes are convened in their places, excepting those in the primary department. It remains to be seen what action the superintendent will take on this point. The Sunday school is to be congratulated on having such a splendid corps of officers, and all are looking forward to a fine year's work. When next year this school under this fine leadership will go forward with leaps and bounds.

In the evening the minister preached to a large and attentive audience on "Divine Healing." He took for his text, "Is any sick among you? let him call for the elders of the church; and let them pray over him, anointing him in the name of the Lord; and the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up." Jas. 5:14-15.

This theme is an important one. If God heals physical disease we ought to know it. If God does not heal physical disease we ought to know it. We ought to know just what the word of the Lord teaches on this subject.

In the opening of his message the minister stated that miracles have a place in God's redemptive plan. Each of the dispensations was ushered in by miracle. These dispensations were the Abrahamic, the Mosaic, and the Christian. As to the purpose of miracles in the Christian dispensation, he said the purpose was two-fold: first, to confirm the new message; second, to edify the church. Concerning the first Jesus says: "But the witness which I have is greater than that of John; for the works which the Father hath given me to accomplish, the very works that I do, bear witness of me that the Father hath sent me." Jno. 5:36. And Peter says: "Ye men of Israel, hear these words. Jesus of Nazareth, a man approved of God unto you by mighty works and wonders and signs which God did by him in the midst of you." Acts 2:22.

The News Bible Lesson

Matthew 20:20-28.

Then came to him the mother of Zebedee's children with her sons, worshipping him, and desiring a certain thing of him.

And he said unto her, What wilt thou? She saith unto him, Grant that these my two sons may sit, the one on thy right hand, and the other on thy left, in thy kingdom.

But Jesus answered and said, Ye know not what ye ask. Are ye able to drink of the cup that I shall drink of, and to be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with? They say unto him, We are able.

And he saith unto them, Ye shall drink indeed of my cup, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with: but to sit on my right hand and on my left, is not mine to give, but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared of my Father.

And when the ten heard of it, they were moved with indignation against the two brethren.

But Jesus called unto them and said, Ye know that the princes of the Gentiles exercise dominion over them, and they that are great exercise authority upon them.

But it shall not be so among you; but whosoever will be great among you, let him be your minister;

And whosoever will be chief among you, let him be your servant;

Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many.

A Visit To Fairy-Land

By Edna Gray and Catherine House
Ada, Okla.

Jimmie and Betty were pulling daddy's sleeve and climbing over his legs for their usual evening story. Then daddy asked, "Have my little chicks ever heard the story of a party for the Gones?"

"What are Gones?" asked Jimmie and Betty in one voice.

"Well," began daddy, "Gones are very close kin to the Brownies."

Now for our story:

One evening as Mr. Sun was sinking into his immortal bed, a little girl and boy who were gathering flowers heard a whistle which hurried them along to find the cause of this tune. Then they saw a tiny fairy-man with a little message bag strapped over his shoulder. Then they saw him stop and turn around and look for something, which he soon found. (It proved to be a round rock.) Now my children, I must tell you Gones are hard working people. The fairy seated himself on the rock and uttered a few strange words, instantly the rock began to move slowly downward. No sooner had his little head disappeared from view, when both of the children rushed to the open place and cautiously looked below. To their surprise they saw the fairy who took a note from his bag and gave it to the Gones.

The note thus:
"Come, Gones, come! For we are to have some fun
"Just tomorrow night at seven,
"When the moon shines up in heaven,
"As it always shines in June;
"You shall hear the fairies soon
"As they chant their little tune,
"Then as morning dawns
"They will vanish from the lawns.
"Lovingly,
"Fairy Queen."

Out in the open air a little boy and girl stared at each other in wonder and amazement.

There was to be a party, a real fairy party. They hid in the grass and when the fairy messenger came up again the brother and sister planted themselves before the fairy, telling what they had heard and begging to be permitted to go to the fairy ball. He said the Fairy Queen would be delighted to have them come. He then told them where the party was to be had and the time. It seemed weeks before the boy and girl could dance and skip down to the lawn by the lake, dressed in their best. When they arrived all the Fairies and Gones were there. They sat and watched for a while then when they saw the messenger coming toward them, bringing some dew-drop wine. They drank to the health of the Fairy Queen. Suddenly they felt themselves growing smaller until they were the size of the Elf people. Then they mingled with the Fairies and Gones. As they wandered about the children drank from a fountain of honey water (and were turned at once into their natural form).

and smelled of perfume most sweet. The Queen of Fairies treated the children with great courtesy.

Now when dawn came over the mountains the most beautiful music floated to their ears. As the music ceased the fairies and children turned their footsteps homeward.

NEGRO WILL RUN FOR GOVERNOR OF STATE

By the Associated Press
FORREST CITY, Ark., June 17.—J. H. Blount, who is the first negro to be nominated for governor of Arkansas, received his nomination at the hands of a faction of the Republican party in this state. Blount is about 60 years old, and has made his home in this city for the past forty-seven years. The nominee was born in Jones county, Georgia, received his elementary training in the schools of Atlanta and higher education in Nashville and Chicago. He is at present principal of the negro schools of Helena and has been connected with schools in several Arkansas towns, including Hot Springs, Texarkana and Forrest City. Blount is said to be in independent financial circumstances, owning over six hundred acres of farm land and to teach merely for the love of the work. He is active in many fraternal orders. This is the first time Blount has ever been a candidate for political office but he has attended republican national conventions since 1884. At one state convention he was elected an alternate delegate at large, defeating the late Logan H. Root for that honor. The candidate is persistent in his pleadings with members of his race to be thrifty, industrious and clean. He declares every negro in Arkansas who farms for five years can own his own land.

HELLO!

There is a hello that is spoken as a matter of formal courtesy. It is merely cold business.

There is a hello from one who thinks he stoops to notice you. It is hypocritical and devoid of friendship.

There is a hello from and to strangers. It has no depth of meaning and merely breaks the monotony.

There is a hello that is a hello. It is from a friend. It makes you vibrant with good fellowship and you feel the joy of living a life. When someone slaps you on the back, and yells it at you, you go to your job with a move and a push.

—O. E. V.

SALVATION ARMY HELPS SAVE PAPER

With the shortage of news print paper becoming so acute that newspapers throughout the whole country are compelled to refuse columns of advertising each day and also to eliminate many of their features, the Salvation Army through its Industrial Homes is making a strenuous effort to turn back to the paper mills more waste paper even than it has done in the past.

In Dallas, Galveston, Fort Worth, Beaumont as well as in every other large city in the United States, the Salvation Army is salvaging waste paper and is returning to the paper mills more than 50,000 tons of waste paper each year. During the past ten years the Army "harvesters" have turned back to the paper mills for re-manufacturing more than 850,000 tons of waste paper, of this amount more than 197 tons were collected last year by the Industrial Homes in the southwest. This would otherwise have become a total loss. In effecting this saving, the Salvation Army has not only accomplished a saving for the publishers, but it has accomplished a saving for humanity by putting thousands of "derelects" back on their feet again and starting them on the road to success where instead of being tax payers and a credit to the community in which they live.

A Free Course in Business and Domestic Economy

It is at your disposal every day. All that is required is careful reading of the advertising columns in this paper.

No matter how well you run your home, your farm, your business—it can be done better—more economically. The advertising columns teach efficiency—they show the cheapest and best markets.

They help you to make the housework lighter by listing the newest labor-saving devices. The farmer can get a line on the thousand and one things that go to improve soils and stock. The merchant or business man can pick up a useful suggestion every day.

No home and no business can progress without movement. The advertising columns help you to keep up with the band wagon.

Read the advertisements—you'll find it pays.

McADOO WILL BE NAMED AT FRISCO ANYWAY

By the Associated Press
KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 22.—Burris A. Jenkins, clergyman and publisher of the Kansas City Post, issued a positive statement today that the name of William Gibbs McAdoo will be placed in nomination before the democratic national convention at San Francisco, whether Mr. McAdoo consents or not. Dr. Jenkins had been selected to make a speech placing Mr. McAdoo's name before the convention up to the time Mr. McAdoo issued a statement in which he said that he must decline to allow his name to be placed before the convention. "Whether I nominate William G. McAdoo, or whether someone else does," Dr. Jenkins said today, in his statement, "this much is certain his name will be placed in nomination at San Francisco."

Dr. Jenkins said that he had been informed by Thomas Love, democratic national committeeman from Texas, who yesterday traveled across Kansas with the Alabama delegate to the national convention, that eighteen of the twenty-four members of the delegation insisted that the name of the former secretary of the treasury ought to be placed before the convention. "Such action will be taken," Dr. Jenkins said.

NEW YORK, June 22.—William G. McAdoo wired Burris A. Jenkins publisher of the Kansas City Post, requesting that his name not be suggested for the democratic presidential nomination. The message was sent on receipt of news that Dr. Jenkins had announced that Mr. McAdoo's name would be placed in nomination at San Francisco, with or without his consent. "I urgently requested Dr. Jenkins not to present my name at the convention," Mr. McAdoo said.

Stonewall Masons Served Elaborate Banquet Last Night

One of the finest Masonic banquets ever served in Pontotoc county was served at Stonewall last night by members of Bright Star Lodge assisted by the ladies of the Stonewall chapter of the Eastern Star. The building occupied by the Stonewall picture show had been requisitioned as a dining hall and here was served a dinner that will be remembered by every one so fortunate as to get his feet under the table.

The master's degree was conferred on two candidates. The work was put on by the Francis and Ada lodges. About 150 Masons were present to participate in the lodge work, while several dozens of the Stonewall ladies served the dinner. About thirty Masons from Ada autoed down and spent the evening with the Stonewall fraternity and are enthusiastic in the praises they are bestowing on the good people of Stonewall. No better people can be found between the two oceans than those who live at Stonewall, and any invitation they may send out in the future will be accepted with alacrity by those who visited them last night.

News From the Normal

SENIORS OF LAST TERM

From left to right:

Miss Esther La Manse, Morris, Okla., at present a critic teacher in this school.

Conn Roach, the class president. Now engaged in business in this city.

Miss Bess Kelly, Davis, Okla. Engaged as a teacher.

By Shelby S. Bruce.

Mr. Rinesland and Oscar Parker will sing at the assembly on Thursday.

The Normal orchestra will render a special program at the assembly Thursday morning.

Misses Kay Knott and Louise Halsell will spend the week-end in Dallas, Texas.

The girls of the gym classes are instructed to doll up their gym suits for the exercises to be given at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. R. R. Robinson, who has been very ill for some time, is reported as being much better this morning.

The students were "rained out" this morning. It was noticed that many of them had rainy excuses to offer to the instructors for being late.

The Phi Beta social has been postponed on account of the rain. They had planned to hike to the lake and take supper. The date of this event is to be announced later.

The date for the regular assembly has been changed to Thursday and the program will start promptly at 9 o'clock. Special musical numbers will feature the meeting.

Each day we will publish in connection with the notes a history of the seniors who finished last term, together with the photos of each. These pictures are in groups and are 18 in number.

Mr. Hefley was seen this morning in company with a gentleman who had every appearance of being a book agent. The students are anxious to know whether or not he purchased any new books to be used in the work.

T. Y. W. C. A. girls are sure selling the ice cream. The committee of arrangements have appointed a list of young ladies who will take a daily turn of presiding over the freezer and dispensing of this refreshment.

Miss Gale Spooner, who has been the guest of Miss Anna Weaver Jones for the past few days returned last night to her home in Shawnee. Miss Spooner was formerly a critic teacher in this school, but is now connected with the schools of Shawnee.

The Y. M. C. A. ball team played a picked team yesterday afternoon on the normal diamond. The game was more for practice and the score resulted in final in favor of the "Y." boys. It could not be learned the exact total but some say it was up in the teens. Some game.

The "Old Man."
Neopyte! Oh, dear!
How dreary to be somebody;
How public like a frog
To tell your name the live-long day
To an admiring bog!

Neopyte! O, dear!
I'm nobody! Who are you?
Are you nobody, too?
Then there's a pair of us—don't tell;
They'd banish us to h—ll!

The home economics classes, under the direction of Miss Francisco, are taking up work of making aprons and dresses. This department is doing some very good work this term and the instruction given helps the students to eliminate the many expenses that are created by having clothing made by down-town dressmakers. This work is being given in all the leading schools of the country and has proven very successful.

Captain Wyatt Here.

Captain Wyatt spoke at a special assembly this morning at 11 o'clock. His talk was very interesting and he related his experiences during the world war, when he served as an instructor of aviation and athletic games.

The weather permitting, Captain Wyatt will give a demonstration in mass games this evening at 7 o'clock on the Normal campus. All students and the citizens of Ada are invited to be present.

A Bouquet.

President Perkins received a letter yesterday from State Superintendent Wilson stating that among the different schools he had visited on his recent school tour, that East Central State Normal was the best regulated institution in the state.

This is quite a compliment and the students of this school are certainly proud of their record, more so as it comes from the head of all state schools. The faculty and student body are putting forth every effort to not only be of best in the state, but to be recognized over the country as a school of merit.

An adequate market value for library service is the greatest need confronting the public libraries in America today, in the opinion of the members of the American Library association. Reports reaching the East Central library from the annual conference of the A. L. A. recently conducted at Colorado Springs, indicate that the problem of low salaries was the outstanding feature of the "keynote" speech of the president of the association, Chalmers Hadley, librarian of the Denver public library. An assistant in the public library of a large middle west city declared that the war had taught librarians and teachers alike that remunerative occupations were open to them, and that of the many assistants who had left the library in question to take up war work, only one has returned. Librarians reported a general shortage of library assistants all over the country and urged the organization of workers through the aid of the American Library association as a solution.

The 700 librarians adopted a resolution urging all library trustees to "labor earnestly to have salary scales so increased that the younger members of their states shall receive sufficient pay for a decent livelihood and that increases shall be given for experience and attainments, that the best minds may be induced to enter the service and remain in it. The "Books for Everybody" movement, which is raising a "Books for Everybody" fund of $2,000,000 for library extension in America, was hailed as an enterprise which would better the status of librarians.

Public library workers of New York City are now fighting for a share of the $5,000,000 pay increase to be apportioned among city employees. The beginning salary in the New York public library, after high school graduation and a year's library training, is now $840.

Roquemore Opens
First Night Here
With a Good Show

Henry Roquemore is at the Liberty all this week and presented a bill last night that was good in every respect.

A special musical act was given by Mr. Fred Faunt Le Roy, an Ada boy who is a member of this company. Mr. Faunt Le Roy has in instrument that is made from a broom, one violin string and a cigar box, which has a tone par excellence. An ordinary violin bow is used to produce music from this nameless instrument. Mr. Faunt Le Roy does another musical act with a saw which is very clever. It will be remembered that Fred was at one time connected with the Ada Music company and entertained the customers of that institution with musical instruments of the home product variety.

The chorus of the show is very good and their wardrobe is up to the standard. They are priding themselves in displaying new costumes each night and introducing new feature acts daily.

Mr. Roquemore has many friends in this city and visited here several times in the past few years.

DATE CHANGED TO FRIDAY, JUNE 25

All Neophytes take notice:
The "Old Man's" messengers are arriving earlier than expected. The fine cool weather has made it possible for the Ada Conclave of the Ancient Benevolent Order of the Red Red Rose to entertain these royal representatives on Friday evening the 25th, inst., instead of on Saturday evening. All Neophytes will be on hand by 5:30 p. m., Friday. All the campus and at least four rooms will be used by the "Old Man," two in the Education and two in the Administration buildings of the East Central State Normal.

New church proposition to be discussed at First Baptist church Wednesday evening at 8:15. Every member urged to be present. 6-22-2td

Church of Christ
Prayer Meeting services at this church will be conducted by LeRoy Elkins, the pastor. This will be the last time that Rev. Elkins will be with the church until September, as he leaves soon to conduct a series of meetings over the state. Every one is invited to attend.

First Baptist Prayer Meeting
We are exceedingly anxious for every member to be present Wednesday evening at 8:15 at prayer meeting to take up some matters in reference to the new church proposition. There are some matters of vital importance to be taken up at this meeting and all are urged to be present.
C. C. MORRIS, Pastor.

Christian Endeavor.
The Christian Endeavor of the Christian church had one of the largest and best meetings of the year Sunday evening. It had the largest attendance that has been in this church for some time. This organization is now growing into one of the largest societies of this city and Mr. Chaney is to be given a great deal of credit for its growth.

The meeting Sunday evening was led by Miss Constance Waggoner who conducted the service in grand style. Many others participated in the program. A splendid talk was given by Mr. Carney Dean of Norman who is here visiting the normal. He told of how Christian Endeavor work is carried on in England. He spoke of many things of interest about the society and churches of England and of Dr. Clark who met 10,000 American boys during the war as they passed thru Scotland and England.
